

What is Accessible Media?

Tuesday, March 13, 2012

11:50 am to 12:40 pm

Room 5025, Broadway Building A

Facilitator: Anne Villahermosa, Accessible Media Coordinator, George Brown College.

This session will demonstrate how universal design concepts can be applied to instruction both in the classroom and on-line to foster an inclusive and equitable learning environment through the use of accessible media. Anne will also provide universal design resources that faculty can use in the development and delivery of their courses.

Anne Villahermosa is the Accessible Media Coordinator at George Brown College in Toronto where she has been leading the accessible media policy initiative since 2005, fostering an equitable and inclusive academic environment by providing training and support to faculty, staff and administrators at the college. Anne completed her MA in Education at Central Michigan University and developed an accessible media policy implementation model for post-secondary institutions as part of her research. She has presented on the topic of accessible media at many workshops at George Brown as well as several conferences throughout Canada and the United States.

Attendance by Drop-in. Don't forget to bring your lunch!

For more information regarding workshops offered by the Centre for Instructional Development, please visit <http://cid.vcc.ca>

