

Motivating Students

Monday, May 13, 2013

11:50 am to 12:40 pm

Room 2206 Broadway Building B

Facilitator: Peter Fenrich, Instructional Development Consultant, Learning and Teaching Centre, BCIT

In this session, we will discuss the ARCS motivation model and how it can be applied to address the attributes of attention, relevance, confidence, and satisfaction. You will be asked to reflect on your own experiences and how the model can apply to your own classes.

Peter Fenrich Bio

Peter Fenrich is an Instructional Development Consultant at the British Columbia Institute of Technology. He supports instructor and curriculum development. He also creates innovative computer-based training and simulation software. His work has won international awards. Peter's book entitled, "Creating Instructional Multimedia Solutions: Practical Guidelines for the Real World", provides practical information gained through years of experience. Peter also works internationally as a consultant.

To register for this workshop, and for more information on other events offered by CID: http://cid.vcc.ca/events_workshops.html

Don't forget to bring your lunch!

